HORRIBLE FATE AWAITING THEM

The Story of the Ku Cheng Massacr as Told by Eye Witnesses of the Event-Men, Women and Children Butchered Indiscriminately-The Chinese Excuse.

VICTORIA, B. C., Sept. 9,-Private letters from Shanghai, just received here, announce that the commission appointed by the British and American governments to investigate the Ku Cheng massacre of August 1 reached Ku Cheng August 17. The commission, consisting of the British consul, Mr. R. W. Mausfield, the American censul, Col. J. Courtensy Hixson, the British vice consul, E. L. B. Alien, from Padoga anchorage; Lieut. Evans, of the United States ship Detroit; the Rev. W. Bannister, representing the English Church nister, representing the English Church Missionary Society, and Dr. Gregory, of the American M. E. Mission, had an escort of 100 of the viceroy's ill-armed and poorly disciplined soldiers, a circumstance which supports but feebly the Chinese contention that the massacre was beyond official prevention, owing to the country being in, revolt. This defense is regarded by all British and American residents in Chinese territory as quite as farcial as the commission, unsupported as it is by any display of British and American force, and indignation runs high at the apathy and indignation runs high at the apathy and indignation runs high at the apathy displayed by these governments in regard to the massacre.

The commission had, at last advices received the statements of three witnesses, Dr. Gregory, of the American mission at Foo Chow; the Rev. H. E. Phillips, and Miss Harman, oi Ku Cheng, the latter two having been eyewitnesses of the scene on August I. THE PIRST WITNESS.

The Rev. Mr. Phillips tells how he was awakened at 6 in the morning by shouting in the direction of the shouting in the direction of the steward's house. He at first thought it was children playing, but soon recog-nizing the volces of excited men, he dressed hastily and went over. "I was met a few yards from my dwelling," he said, "by a native friend, who, while throwing his arms around to detain me, told me the Verstanians had come. I told me the Vegetarians had come. shook him off and went on, and soon came in sight of the house, from which forty to fifty bandits were carrying loads of plunder, their leader holding aloft a small red flag. I could see nothing of our Europeans, and, as I was in the light of the right states. full view of the rioters, I crept up a hill full view of the rioters, i crept up a fill in the brushwood and concealed myself behind two trees, from twenty to thirty yards from the house. There I could see everything that could be seen. As I could see no foreigners, I concluded they had escaped, and as to go down was certain death I thought it best to wait where I was was certain death I thought it best to wait where I was.

"After a minute or two the retreat horn sounded and the vogetarians began to leave, first, however, setting fire to the houses. Ten minutes after this the houses. Ten minutes after this every vegetarian had gone. I came down and looked about the front of the house, but could see no one. I feared something dreadful had happened, as I heard the vegetarians as they left say: 'Now all the foreigners are killed.' I just then met one of the servants, who told me the Chinese were in the house in which Miss Hartford, of the Ameriin which Miss Hartford, of the American Mission was staying. I found Mr. Hartford's daughter, Mildred, with a serious wound on one knee and another severe cut. When I had washed these I turned to Mr. Steward's son, who was fearfully backed and cut every where.

THE BODIES FOUND. "Then Miss Codrington sent me a message that she, too, was in the house. I found her in a fearful condition, but I found her in a fearful condition, but with cold water and rags we managed to staunch the bleeding. She begged me not to wait, as she thought Topay Sanders was still alive. I then rushed to the back of the house and found the bodies of Miss Saunders, Miss Stowart, Miss Gordon and Miss Marshall. The latter was awfully cut, her head being almost severed, but beyond the wounds given in the struggle, the bodies were almost severed, but beyond the wounds given in the struggle, the bodies were not mutilated. Later I found Miss Coomba's body at the foot of the hill in front of the house, where it evidently had been thrown. As then I could so no signs of Mr. and Mrs. Steward, Miss Saunders and Lena, the nurse, we hoped they had escaped, and I returned to the house where the Steward shidten. to the house where the Steward children and Miss Codrington were. Presently Miss Hartford arrived. She had re-ceived a cut under one of her ears, but had been saved by a native Christian. I learned later that the five ladies of the Zenana mission society, who lived in two houses which formed the Ku Cheng sanatorium, after a tutile attempt to es sanatorium, after a little attempt to escape, got out of the back end and were immediately surrounded. Some of the Vegetarians were inclined to spare them, but were ordered by their leaders to carry out their orders: 'Kill, and spare not.' Ilad they been able to escape to the brush wood there seems little doubt the brush wood there seems little doubt they might have been saved.

"Mr. and Mrs. Steward were killed as they sprang from bed. Lena, the nurse, died while protecting the baby, whom Kathleen managed to carry out of the house, though not before its eyes had been cut out. Miss Nellie Sanders was also knocked down at the nursery door when going to help the children, and, as we afterward found the remains of a burned body there, we had little doubt that it was hers. For a long time we thought Mr. and Mrs. Steward had escaped, but later I found their bodies, or rather sabes, in what had been their or rather ashes, in what had been their d room. "The Hau Sang people seemed to have had, as a whole, no hand in the affair, though doubtless four or five vegetarian families were concerned. The natives gay the vegetarian band came from the east road of Ku Cheng city, many from Ang-Long and Adeng-Bang, w thirty or forty miles of Ku Cheng. MISS HARTLAND'S ESCAPE.

Miss Hartland says the whole affair was over in thirty minutes, and that the attacking party numbered about 100, well organized under one leader. Her own terrible experience she relates thus: "I heard shouts and yells on the thus: "I heard shouls and yells on the streets, and, putting on my clottes, I rushed to the door, to be met by a man with a trident and spear, who yelled: "There's a foreign woman." The man pointed his spear at my breast, but I pointed his spear at my breast, but I twisted the weapon to one side, and it just grazed my ear and head. He then threw me to the ground and beat me with the wooden end of the spear, but a servant came, who wrenched the weapon away and told me to fly. I jumped down the embaukment and raw slong the road. The servant followed and nulled me slong the road until I get up to the side of the hill, where I lay down to get breath. After resting twice I reached a secluded spot and lay there.

"All this time the yells went on and the houses were burning. After a white the yells stopped, and we supposed the Vereinrians had gone. Then the servant wentto see how matters stood, lie returned in half an hour, telling me to come home, and that five ladies of the English mission had been killed, and some of the wounded were at my house. This was a matter broke, and was not troubled at all."

Dr. Grezory tells how the news was first brought to him by messenger from the Rev. Mr. Phillips, and how, when he went at once to the Yamen, he found hundreds of people already gathered there.

found hundreds of people already gathered there.

"The district magistrate, Wong, told me he would immediately go to Hwaishang," narrated Dr. Gregory, "taking home sixty soldiers with them, and at 3 a.m. I left under excort of thrisen soldiers and arrived at fiwaishang at 8, to find nise adults, all English subjects, had been murdered, and that all alive at Hwaishang had been accortivinging at 1 ance set to work to make the injured as comfortable as possible."

MISSIONARIES HAD NO WARNING, After describing the extent and nature of the injuries inflicted, Dr. Gregory says: "The massacre was undoubtory says: "The massacre was undoubtedly committed by some members of the secret society snown as the Vegetarians, and the murder was done to order, deliberately planoed and executed by a party of eighty men, struct with spears and swords, and showing emphatic evidence of military discipline. The members of the mission band had no suspicion of the attack, which was swift and terrible, the whole affair being over in much less time than it takes me to write it."

Though Dr. Gregory does not hold

Takes me to write it."

Though Dr. Gregory does not hold the native officials responsible as inving been directly concerned in the massacre, he believes they had knowledge that it was contemplated, but remained inactive owing to their dread of the Vegetarians' power. For the same reason he says that unless Great Britain and the United States assert themselves with emphasis the matter will confurther than a formal inquiry that will ascertain nothing more than the horriascertain nothing more than the horri ble facts already too well known, and perhaps an expression of official regret

The Wool Trade.

Trade shows some falting off, and an Trace snows some latting ou, and an essier tone is noticeable in domestic wools. Dealers generally maintain a fair amount of steadiness, but there have been some concessions made. Buyers are testing the market on round lots, and in numbers of instances only laid has stood between the seller and haves on his lines, running, into the tage has stood between the seller and buyer on big lines, running into the millions of pounds. Foreign wools are very firm, and values are held even higher than a month ago. The advance in London since the close of the last sale has been about 5 per cent on mericos and 10 per cent on crossbreds, and holders on this side are not generaland holders on this side are not generally disposed to sell below this advance. Other foreign fine wools are quiet but firm. Carpet wools are quiet and steady. Domestic fleece wools are quiet, but prices are held about steady. Palled wools are quiet and scarce. About 1,200 bales foreign wool, largely tarterlells, were destroyed or damaged. Australian, were destroyed or damaged by fire at East Boston on Wednesday morning.
